A little toddler came home from school one after noon and saw there was a memo on the table. It read:

Don't forget you have a ballet lesson after school. Then shortly after you have to come home and take a bath, and use that foam and suds you love to use.

Later the toddler came home from ballet and started the bath and put some suds in the bath until the suds were thick but had no clue where the handle to turn off. After about 5 minutes of looking the toddler found it and took a bath when the toddler got out her skinned his tow on the jagged edge of the railing. The mother came home and saw her tow and put a band aid on it. Presently the child has become a great dancer and the mother has past away.
